Sub: Treatment of Eire Citizens

--

I am directed to say that as a result of the Session of Eire from the Commonwealth, Eire citizens have technically become foreigners. The Government of India have, however, decided that Eire citizens should continue to enjoy as hitherto, exemption from visa restrictions, since it appears that the Government of Eire have not imposed restriction on the entry of Commonwealth Citizens into their territory. It has also been decided that Eire citizens should not be required to get themselves registered under the Registration of foreigners Rules, 1939.

Sub: Exemption of Eire citizens from visa-requirements

--

The Government of India have decided, on a reciprocal basis that the citizens of the Republic of Ireland may be exempted from the requirement of passessing a visa for entry into India, and that they may enter India if they are in possession of a valid national passport, endorsed either for the British Commonwealth or specifically for India

2. The citizens of the Republic of Ireland will also be exempted from the requirements of the Registration of Foreigners Rules 1939.
